

HOW TO PROPERLY DISPOSE OF USED OILS

When disposing of used oils, it is important that you contact your local environment or waste management authorities for advice on their safe disposal

Used oils must not be disposed of by burning

Burning of used oils may result in significant levels of hazardous emissions to the environment, and the generation of persistent organic pollutants

Drain used oil from the engine of a truck, or vehicle, and store it in a container for reuse, or recycling

